

Art challenge:

Imagine a humorous composition in your mind that incorporates a humanoid, a cityscape or landscape and an animal or non-human creature. Don't hold back. Be as imaginative as you can.

Draw four 3x3 inch boxes. Using a pen sketch out roughly your composition in the first box.

Then look at what you have in the first box. Consider what major compositional changes you want to make. Do you want to move any elements, enlarge or decrease any features. Sketch those changes in the second box.

In the third and fourth box do the same. Looking at the previous sketches what changes do you want to make to the composition.

If you remain unsatisfied continue making new boxes until you have arranged a composition that inspires you. Now this can be made into a finished piece of art, or simply remain as a satisfying series of sketches.

Here is my final drawing:

For more art lessons visit me at inspiremyartist.com